CLEVELAND CLINIC AND RGF ANNOUNCE 2013 ROSTER

(Cleveland, OH. January 2, 2013) – After a successful 2012 season, the Cleveland Clinic Sports Health, RGF Cycling Team isn't backing down now- as it adds several powerhouses to the team for 2013.

The team will continue its seventh season with Cleveland Clinic Sports Health and RGF as the title sponsors. Additionally, Robert Fernandez will return as team manager and Richard Brink, Jeff Braumberger and Bob Martin will support him.

Cleveland Clinic/RGF will have strong leadership with the experience of returning rider Adam York.

"I'm very excited to return to the team for 2013. We have some strong riders coming aboard and I think they will make excellent additions to the roster. We're definitely going to be giving other teams a run for their money," said York.

Young guns Parker Kyzer, Tyler Karnes and Mike Stone are joining the team for 2013 after riding for BMC Hincapie Sportswear.

Kevin Henschel and Tim Jenkinson will round out the roster as well as Luke Haley who will lead the charge for young riders as the youngest member of the team.

The team will continue to combine experienced riders and developing riders to achieve excellent results.

Cleveland Clinic and RGF Sports welcome several national champions and have developed one of the nation's strongest U-23 rosters.

The team looks forward to competing in some of the most prestigious and major U.S. events including USA CRITS Championship Series, Tour of America's Dairyland, Tour of Elk Grove.
